Moscow Defenses Face Savage German Onslaughts During Day

INTENSE FIGHTING ON SOVIET FRONT

Russians Claim Nazi Advance Toward Rostov Is "Stopped"

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Moscow's defenses bent but held unbroken against savage German onslaughts today, according to Russian accounts, while the Red army claimed it had driven the Nazis into a defensive position in the south.

The Russian (Tass) news agency said the German advance toward Rostov, strategic industrial center in the Donetz basin and gateway to the oil-producing caucuses, has been "stopped."

Intense fighting, said Tass, is continuing in the region around Taganrog on the northern shore of the sea of Azov.

Editor's Note: The Germans already have claimed capture of Taganrog.

In addition, the Soviet agency reported, the German forces on the southern front have "taken up the defensive."

Some Retreats

Save for a few sectors where retreats to new defense lines were admitted, the Russians claimed to be holding firm on the blood-soaked front.

PA NEW OBSERVES

As a means of saving paper, and aiding in the country's defense, New Castle school pupils are writing on both sides of the paper, thus setting an example to others to conserve.

Despite the drizzling rain of Tuesday afternoon, some ladies of the Epworth Methodist church were not deterred in their process of making apple butter, on the church parking space.

Herman Wolford, of Hamilton street, states that the road between New Wilmington and Mercer County line, on Route 18, is in bad shape, and is of the "washboard" variety. He also reports that there are no white fog-lines on the road, while Mercer and Butler counties have them. These lines would be of great help during these foggy mornings and evenings. He says that there are about 150 men, residing in this city, employed in Farrell and Sharon, who travel over this road, almost every day.

Many motorists park their cars these foggy mornings and leave their headlights turned on and some remain on for several hours, it is noted. Headlights have been necessary for the past three mornings in the local district.

According to figures gathered by the United States government in connection with the 16th census completed in 1940, there are 1,774 farms in Lawrence county, operated by full owners, of whom 1,423 owned no additional land. Of this number, 1,069 are free of mortgages. There

New Castle Above Average Sales Hub

(Special To The News)
NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The question, "How active and prosperous a trading center is New Castle in comparison with other cities?" can now be answered fully, with final results made available of the 1940 business survey conducted by the department of commerce. Every city in the United States is covered.

The data shows New Castle to be an above-average market, handling well over its quota of retail business. The annual sales in the city's 775 stores totaled $21,053,000, a rise from the $15,620,000 recorded in the previous (1935) census. They represent sales of $442 per capita, as compared with $344 per person for the rest of the nation. These sales are principally of food, which accounts for $5,348,000 of the total, general merchandise, $3,427,000; automotive equipment, $2,680,000, and apparel, $2,100,000.

How well New Castle stacks up against other cities as a market is indicated by the fact that with only .0362 per cent of the national population, it accounts for .0500 per cent of the entire business of the country, more than one and one-third times its quota.

Wages in New Castle retail establishments, which use 2,518 full and part-time employees earning a total of $2,233,000 annually, average $886 per employee a year, as against an average wage of $727 in similar establishments in other communities.

May Resume Food Aid To France

U. S. Considers Shipment Plan

Would Go To Unoccupied Regions Of France Under Red Cross Direction

U. S. WILL INSIST ON SUPERVISION

By J. KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The United States government today is considering a resumption of American Red Cross food shipments to the unoccupied regions of France.

Possibility of sending another shipload of American Red Cross food and medical supplies to the French is being discussed with the French, British and German governments.

The American Red Cross is insisting upon strict control by its own representatives of the distribution of the supplies in France. If these conditions are acceptable to the French and German authorities, a boat to carry American Red Cross supplies may sail in a few weeks.

Suspended in Spring

American food shipments to France were virtually suspended last spring as the result of a food barter deal which the French government made with Germany. However, the American Red Cross food shipments to unoccupied France were so gratefully received by the French people that this government and the Red Cross is inclined to continue them if there is reasonable assurance that they will not serve to aid the German war effort.

Great Britain has been approached on the subject of relaxing the blockade to permit another shipment of Red Cross supplies to reach the French people. American officials believe the British will consent if the details of distribution control can be settled to the satisfaction of this government.

The American Red Cross sent two shipments of flour to unoccupied France last spring. Arrangements for these shipments were made March 22. On April 4 France and Germany signed an agreement for the exchange of food supplies, and an outcry went up in Great Britain that American food supplies to France were indirectly helping the Germans. The American government reconsidered its attitude and the food shipments were suspended.

Germany is expected to bring strong pressure on the Vichy government to grant the access and use of French naval and air bases in the Mediterranean this winter. As long as Marshal Henri Petain resists this pressure, there are indications the American government will be favorably disposed to help relieve the hunger of the people in unoccupied France.

U. S. TO BUILD 50 MORE SHIPS FOR CONVOYING

3. A statement by Lend-Lease Administrator E. R. Stettinius, Jr., that he is ready to award contracts at once for an additional $600,000,000 in lend-lease material the minute the new bill is approved.

No Changes in Bill

The Senate committee approved the bill—which includes $5,985,000,000 for actual lend-lease expenditures as well as $120,000,000 for naval ordnance and other items—with virtually no changes from the House passed version of the measure. Senate leaders said it would be brought to the floor tomorrow.

Admiral Stark, in answering committee questions about the new escort vessels, said simply that plans are to build 50 of them at a total cost of $325,000,000 and that they will be used "for escort ships for convoy work."

Although type of the vessels was not disclosed, naval authorities said that this averaged $6,500,000 per ship—approximately the cost of destroyers.

In testifying before the House committee on the same bill, naval officials said this country was building a $10,000,000 naval base for Britain, but declined to state where it was to be located. In the Senate testimony, however, Admiral Stark declared it was being constructed on Iceland.

out that many of the firms above did an excellent job last year in the campaign and, hence, have not shown as large a percentage increase this year. After the completion of the campaign a full report of industrial solicitation will be published to show the extent to which the individual industries in the community have supported this year's Chest drive. Total subscriptions for each industry will be included in the list at that time.

In submitting the honor roll, Mr. round commented on the manner in which local industries have cooperated in this year's drive. "The success to date of the industrial solicitation is sufficient indication that the method adopted this year was correct; namely, that solicitation in the industrial plants is the most efficient method and most nearly guarantees complete coverage of the employees. While in previous years such a method of solicitation has been used wherever possible, we believe that in no previous year has the cooperation of the industries and their personnel been so complete and has permitted solicitation on such a large proportion of our industries."

"It is evident that the workers in these industries realize their responsibility to the community, and I know that everyone contributing to the drive this year takes pride in the fact that he or she has helped in this worthy cause."

NEW SINKINGS BRING CALL FOR NAVY CONVOY

gress, Sen. Pepper (D. Fla., not only called for armed escort for all merchant craft on the Atlantic, but a program of "two-for-one" retaliation to avenge every sinking.

Await Details

As President Roosevelt and his advisors weighed the effect of the latest incidents on the administration's future course with Germany, officials were more complete details to determine whether there may have been loss of life.

The president, in announcing the sinking of the Lehigh, which carried no cargo and was bound for Takoradi on the west African coast, stated that one boatload of survivors had been picked up by a British vessel, the Vimy, but two other boatloads were still unreported.

About 40 persons were said by the Maritime commission to have been aboard the Lehigh Sunday night when it was sunk in south Atlantic waters.

The Lehigh flew the American flag, but the Bold Venture, although owned by the Maritime commission and operated by Waterman Steamship Co., Mobile, Ala., was under Panamanian registry. One of former Danish vessels taken over by this government the Bold Venture carried a crew of 32, none of them Americans when it went to the bottom of the north Atlantic off Iceland Oct. 16.

Carried Cargo

Of this number only 17 were picked up and landed at Reykjavik, Iceland. The Bold Venture carried a cargo of cotton, steel, copper and general merchandise.

President Roosevelt made it clear that he believed the Lehigh was sunk by a German submarine. Announcement of the latest incidents came swiftly after news that the destroyer Kearny was damaged by a torpedo off Iceland Friday. Ten members of her crew were injured and 11 are still missing, presumably dead.

The president, who denounced the Lehigh sinking as piracy, was expected to confer during the day with Secretary of State Hull and high-ranking navy officials.

In congress, administration followers took the view the latest two sinkings would prompt an overwhelming vote for the bill to arm merchant ships, and several of them freely predicted that congress might now go ahead and lift the neutrality act ban on American vessels carrying aid direct to British ports.

President Urged Action

Washington, Oct. 22.—Following hard on the sinking of two more American merchantmen, the White House today reminded Congress that President Roosevelt had specifically requested "earnest and early attention" to repeal of that section of the neutrality act ban against American ships carrying aid direct to Britain.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early reviewed particular paragraphs of the President's message to Congress on October 9 at his press conference today, leaving the broad inference that the White House would like to see revision of the neutrality act expanded beyond the mere permission to arm U. S. merchant ships.

'RED' DEFENSES HOLD AGAINST NAZI ATTACKS

ed front west of Moscow, where increasingly frantic fighting roared toward a climax.

On the "half-moon front" west of the capital, the Russians said mechanized Nazi legions were attacking in "every direction"—only to be cut down by red army counter-blooms.

In the Orel sector south of Moscow, according to Tass, German pressure "slackened," although the Nazis still attempted to "infiltrate into the Soviet lines in small groups."

5000 Casualties

A supplementary high command communique said that in the "southern direction" of the front, 5,000 German soldiers have been killed and wounded in the past five days.

This announcement said the red air force operating in the same area destroyed 321 enemy trucks, 45 field guns and 300 automobiles loaded with food supplies, ammunition and 2,500 men.

The communist newspaper Pravda, quoted by Reuters (British) news agency, said that west of the Russian fortress capital the Germans were throwing forward groups of 10 to 16 tanks each, supported by masses of infantry, in slogging assaults at the Russian lines.

The Nazis aimed these blows in all directions, according to Pravda but almost everywhere the Soviet defenders held back the onslaughts and then launched counter-attacks that inflicted heavy losses on the Germans "far in excess of ours."

Active Sectors

According to Pravda, the Germans were particularly active in the direction of Mozhaisk, the pivotal stronghold about 62 miles due west of Moscow.

On that gore-soaked battleground this version related, the Germans sent groups of infantrymen armed with automatic rifles and supported by artillery batteries and mine-throwers against the Soviet lines.

"In some sectors," Pravda admitted, "our troops retreated to new lines."

Elsewhere on the same bitterly contested front, Pravda said, the Soviets occupied two villages as a result of bayonet charges.

A new Soviet high command communique, issued at noon, reported "strenuous fighting in the Mozhaisk, Maloyaroslavets and Kalinin directions."

Heavy Rain Falling

British military authorities said they had received no details regarding the Russian front save that heavy rain was still falling on the southern and central sectors and that the roads outside Moscow were "almost impassable."

They declared German claims to have captured Stalingrad on the southern front were still unconfirmed.

Earlier the Russians conceded the increasing gravity of the situation in the Donetz basin. The midnight Russian war bulletin said the Germans were throwing massive assaults at Moscow's outer approaches and were rushing fresh forces into the battle to fill the gaps torn in the Nazi lines by Soviet bombs and shells.

In the Donetz basin, according to the Russian newspaper Izvestia, the German attacks "are becoming fiercer and several places on the front have changed hands several times." The situation was termed "serious."

"Owing to his numerical superiority," the paper said, "the enemy broke through our defenses, but at a heavy cost in losses."

(Editor's Note: The German high command yesterday announced capture of Stalingrad, an important mining and arms-making center in the heart of the region in the Donetz basin which yields about 60 per cent of Russia's coal.)

While dismantling a portion of the tower or steeple of the old Third U. P. church building, on East Washington street, Tom Hamilton, of Adams street, discovered an unusual method of plastering. Six by one inch boards, having dove-tail grooves on the under side, were nailed to the joists. The plastering was pressed into the grooves, which made quite a firm job. This took the place of lathing, which is generally used in plastering. The building was erected in 1900, Mr. Hamilton states.

Traffic Commissioner Thomas Jones has requested the state highway department to erect a sign at Wilmington avenue and Jefferson street, pointing the route to New Wilmington. The city will paint a white and yellow line on Wilmington avenue and council has instructed that several lights be installed in the vicinity.

RUSSIANS MAKING DESPERATE EFFORT TO SAVE MOSCOW

Basin were reported developing into a major blitz drive against the Ukrainian stronghold by Kharkov. German authorities said they expected Kharkov to fall within 24 hours putting still another important key point in German hands.

In the next few days, it was claimed, German occupation of the Donetz Basin will be complete. Authorities declared natural geographical factors had aided the German forces and their allies to trap the armies of Soviet Marshal Semyon Budenny between the Sea of Azov and Rostov, with the Donetz river forming an obstacle in the path of Russians seeking to escape.

In Donetz Basin, Berlin officials said the Axis forces on the Donetz Basin front had made super-human marches during the past week and enjoyed only a brief pause before launching their final offensive to sweep the Russians from the entire region.

They declared that with the anticipated capture of Kharkov, the German forces will be able to roll forward on a broad front to the Don river and eventually straighten out the entire battle line past Moscow and up to Lake Onega before winter.

The newest high command communique said occupation of industrial districts in the Donetz Basin was continuing and reiterated yesterday's announcement that the Baltic Island of Dagoe had been captured.

In mopping up operations south of Bryansk, the communique stated, German troops took another 5,000 Soviet prisoners and captured a heavy tank and 56 guns.

Luftwaffe raids on Moscow by day and by night also were announced.

Federated Women Have Annual Fall Meeting

With the Woman's club of Ellwood City, of which Mrs. Erle B. Yahn is president, and the Junior Woman's club, of which Miss Mary Evelyn Christie is president, as hostess clubs, the annual fall meeting of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's clubs took place Tuesday in the Baptist church of Ellwood City, the church being crowded for both morning and afternoon sessions.

After registration, the morning session opened at 10:30 with Mrs. I. Miller Henley presiding. Rev. B. G. Osterhouse, the pastor of the Baptist church, pronounced the invocation. Mrs. Robert Barlow, first vice president, introduced Miss Mary Evelyn Christie, who led in the salute to the flag. Mrs. Erle B. Yahn gave the address of welcome.

Mrs. Roy A. Long read the revised by-laws, after which the president, Mrs. Henley, explained the set-up of the county organization and called upon the department chairmen to explain the aims of each department.

Mrs. Ralph H. Ramsey spoke for the Citizenship department, Mrs. Mont L. Alley for Conservation and Gardens, Mrs. Lucien C. Black for Education, Mrs. S. D. Pearson for Finance, Mrs. Carl Wilson for Fine Arts, Miss Alice Sterling for International Relations, Mrs. E. F. G. Harper for Legislation, Miss Margaret P. Bodenstein for Public Welfare, and Mrs. Alvah Shumaker for Drama. Each department of the Federation is composed of a representative from each of the 24 affiliated clubs, working under a state chairman.

Reports were received from the following committee chairmen: Mrs. S. M. Matheny, scholarship; Mrs. Robert Barlow, organization; Mrs. Arthur B. Foster, program; Mrs. Charles E. Allen and Mrs. A. Pearson, publicity; Mrs. J. C. Lechner, scrap book.

After the business session, adjournment was taken for lunch, the afternoon session convening at 2 o'clock. Over a hundred were present for the noon luncheon, which had been arranged by Mrs. Paul Reynolds of Ellwood City.

The Federation chorus opened the afternoon program, with Mrs. William J. Caldwell directing and Mrs. Paul Welsh accompanying. The following numbers were beautifully rendered:

The Collect—Rohrer.
Goin' Home—Dvorak.
Summer Evening—Finnish Folk Song, with Mrs. W. P. Felch as soloist.

The chorus, which is one of the finest in the state, is composed of: First sopranos, Mrs. Benjamin Agnew, Mrs. A. H. Mellor, Mrs. J. W. Moorehead, Mrs. Paul Weller, Mrs. Murly Boyd; second sopranos, Mrs. A. C. Dietterle, Mrs. L. P. Hauschild, Mrs. Rankin Johnson, Mrs. B. M. Rogers; first alto, Mrs. Vennor Bright, Miss Eva Miller, Mrs. W. C. St. Clair, Mrs. L. Paul Friend; second alto, Mrs. W. P. Felch, Mrs. Clifford Propst and Mrs. W. A. Woodworth.

Mrs. Arthur B. Foster introduced Mrs. Arthur P. Vincent of Slippery Rock, vice president of the Southwestern District of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's clubs, who had as her subject, "Women on the Home Line of Defense."

She asked each club woman to learn the need of her own city and then organize for defense. A small group, well organized, she stated, is worth more than a large unorganized one. To overcome the four horsemen of the Apocalypse, war, famine, pestilence and death, she urged the following four horsemen for defense:

Industry, which should be kept running; Labor, in which she stated strikes should be overcome by arbitration and legislation; Agriculture, food must be conserved so that the country can be fed; and Capital, stating that the country must have needed money, and urged the purchase of defense bonds.

Mrs. Vincent, a former teacher of speech, proved a most interesting speaker, and inspired her audience with her admonitions to be ready to serve in whatever capacity one is called upon for defense.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

HOLT WAS FRIEND OF CHILDREN

Over a million mothers, including some who read this column, have used The Care and Feeding of Children, that famous book by Dr. L. Emmet Holt. When Dr. Holt received his medical degree in 1880 one out of four babies in New York City died before the end of their first year; and in many other places in the United States the death rate of infants was still higher. By 1924 at the time of Dr. Holt's death, infant mortality had been steadily reduced to one-third of the rate of 1880, and it has been going downward since.

When Dr. Holt began practicing, there were no pediatricians (specialists in care and diseases of children). Up to then the care of babies and children was in the hands of the obstetrician and practitioner of internal medicine whose interest was chiefly in adults.

Mother's Influence

Dr. Holt came from a religious home and adhered to his parents' faith. The mother once wrote to her son, Emmet: "Let it not be enough that you observe the outward forms of religion, but remember God looks into the heart, and He has given you power to be employed for Him. My earnest and daily prayer for you is that you may be an instrument in the hand of God doing much good in the world."

We see this true spirit of religion revealed in the whole life of Dr. Holt. We also see it reflected in his letters to his sons. Writing to Calvert then in a preparatory school, and referring to the younger son who had died, he said:

"One great lesson which Kenneth should teach us all is courage and pluck. How much of both he always had. Think of the courage you think of him and try to have the same pluck in your work."

Put Character First

"While we remember him daily and almost every hour we must not grieve, but each of us try to do more for one another and those about us because he will not be able to do so for us. Let us not be sad, but joyful for such an example as he gave us in many things, and thankful that God gave him to us for so many years. Be a friend to every small boy in the school, and make your influence felt for all that is good and true and noble. What we are is really very much more important than what we have, or even what we know. Character is above everything."

Referring to a talk he gave at the Y. M. C. A., "I told them that more men fail in a profession for lack of moral character than for lack of scientific training. I want to say the same to you. Keep your moral standard high."

Dr. Emmet Holt, Jr., is a leading pediatrician at Johns Hopkins University now. He is co-author of a recent book about his father, L. Emmet Holt, Pioneer of A Child's Century.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. What about the ten-year-old who eats too fast?
A. No use to keep nagging him. The child is probably rather excitable. Try to cultivate in him more peace and calm between meals, and more in yourself. Keep the radio silent at mealtimes. Announces to him he may not leave the table till the end of twenty minutes. Knowing he cannot return to play until the time is up, he will have less occasion to hurry.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

(International News Service Staff Writer)
The Duchess of Windsor became the further enigma of her sex when she was photographed in Jersey City at seven A. M., without a trace of cold cream on her nose.

This should be a lesson to housewives who frighten their husbands at breakfast. A man is entitled to something more than curl papers with his toast.

Instead of getting a key to Manhattan, the Windsors were delivered free through the Holland tunnel. It was a 50 cent gesture of good will with no gilt on it.

Dr. Walter Funk, German economic minister, predicts that German-American trade will be resumed on a barter basis after the war. We will exchange cold shoulder for warmer up overtures.

The government is considering turning its Virgin Islands rum plant into a smokeless powder factory. The only difference to the eventual consumer is that between being shot and half-shot.

Thought for the day: Marlene Dietrich is being asked to plug non-kick stockings for national defense. She will make no speeches.

Bible Thought For Today

Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need. Heb. 4: 16.

Hints On Etiquette

Is it too much to ask students who ride public buses, street cars or subways to be quiet, not talking and making so-called jokes at the tops of their voices, yelling and scuffling? It would be much pleasanter for other people who also have to ride such conveyances if the young folk could sit or stand quietly while making the trip.

We read of a committee organized to see that people get fair rent and the committee had to move because the people who owned the office they were in raised the rent. Yeow!

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:11. Sun rises tomorrow 6:19.

An East Side man who has been divorced three times says he knows how a used car feels.

It's remarkable how many people there are who never gave anything to any good cause, and they are usually people who could give more than those who do give.

A local man showed his wife an article on economy. A friend asked him how he came out, and if the economy article had any effect on his wife. He replied: "It did," with dignity. "I am now required to quit smoking."

HE ASKED FOR IT

One of our ministerial friends tells us this one on a fellow cleric: The dominie was visiting members of his flock and called on a woman slightly hard of hearing. She was lamenting the fact that her ailment prevented her from hearing all of the sermons the minister preached. The dominie wanted to be sympathetic, so he remarked, brightly:

"Well, you don't miss much." He was somewhat put out when she answered:

"So the other members tell me."

Love is funny, to say the very least. A man will bite a girl's neck because she has pretty legs.

Sectionalism: The feeling that makes Louisiana people love their football stars, who came from Vermont, Idaho, Pennsylvania and all points north.

Women who aren't congenial may brag about their jewelry, but only congenial ones tell about their kitchen equipment.

There will be a rush for safety razors in McKeesport. The price of a safety razor has been raised to 35 cents and a haircut 75 cents.

It is claimed that a red flag will not make a bull mad. Wonder what does make one mad? Maybe being left alone.

Her car stalled at the corner and the traffic light changed red, yellow, green, red, yellow, green, etc. Finally the officer stepped up beside the car and asked "What's the matter, lady, ain't we got any colors you like?"

The American Academy of Sciences heard from one of the speakers at its Madison, Wis., meeting that one way to grow nicotine-free tobacco leaves is to graft tobacco shoots onto tomato plants. Dr. Ray F. Dawson of the University of Missouri added, however, that it's hard on the tomatoes unless you like yours with nicotine in them.

A 73-year-old Chicago woman got a divorce from her 86-year-old husband whom she married a year ago. She charged that he told her he was only 80.

When a man has a monument erected to him after he is dead he don't have to help keep it up.

When hairpins get to be about 60 cents a pound the girls will be more careful about dropping them around everywhere. Wonder why they sell those things by the pound?

A mess is not so bad if it's a beautiful mess.

We read of a committee organized to see that people get fair rent and the committee had to move because the people who owned the office they were in raised the rent. Yeow!

A local young man wants to postpone his marriage until he gets his car paid for, but his fiancée is objecting because she does not want to be an old maid.

"Just remember my birthday, but forget my age," a West Side woman announced at her club.

BETTY'S OBSERVATION
Little Betty, returning from school one afternoon, said: "Johnny Wilson's examination papers were so good that teacher keeps them on her desk to show visitors."

Asked about her own she had to confess that they weren't good.

"But why aren't yours as good as Johnny's?" her mother asked. "You have the same opportunities."

"I know, mother," said Betty, "but Johnny Wilson comes from a very bright family."

"If any must die," writes a mother, "why not draft old men?" The idea, lady, is to kill the enemy—not own trainees.

Good Taste

By W. E. Peltier GIBBS

"Have you ever observed that people generally are quick to notice our mistakes and misgivings but short on praise? An employer will complain bitterly about an employee's mistakes but apparently never notice his good traits. Won't you write a piece on the necessity of praise to one's morale?"—Gertrude.

Answer: You are right! We are all too free with criticism and too stingy with praise. Employers do take their assistants' good points too much for granted and are too likely to be very vociferous when the tiniest error crops up. That is the way of all flesh, it would seem. When things go along smoothly, we go along silently, never thinking that we might owe anyone thanks. When there is a hitch, we forget those 999 times when everything was perfect—see the spot on the door without seeing the door itself. Praise is encouragement to do greater things. A child whose parents show gratitude to it for having a high scholastic average will work still harder to please such a grateful and thoughtful father and mother. A servant whose mistress congratulates her on the perfection of vials she has cooked from day to day will strive for greater heights in culinary arts than she would if believing her efforts are going unnoticed. We all like to be pat on the back, so to speak; and if we are not given such accolades we go into a slump, remaining there until pepped up by appreciation and praise.

Question: Is it necessary for the groom's mother to entertain for her future daughter-in-law? If so, in what manner should it be done?

Answer: Indeed, the mother of the bridegroom may and frequently does entertain for the bride. This may be a tea, luncheon, dinner or evening party—anything but a shower, which should be given by someone outside of both families.

(2) The immediate family of the groom (especially the younger members) should be invited to pre-nuptial parties given in honor of the bride and groom.

Question: What are the duties of a bride at a wedding?—P. I.

Answer: He carries the bride's train during the processional but not during the recessional. While the ceremony is in progress, he stands at one side of the bride and at the recessional he follows the bride and bridegroom down the aisle.

Tomorrow—How To Make Friends.
Even if building the canal up the Beaver Valley has been approved in Washington, we are getting many people now living will never see it built.

The case was set for trial and the judge had called in the prospective jury. The defendant was brought in by two deputy sheriffs and the judge noticed there was no defense counsel.

"I see you don't have an attorney representing you in this case," he said. "It is pretty serious and you should have counsel. If you cannot pay for an attorney, the court will appoint one free of charge."

The prisoner looked over the jury venire.

"Who are all those people?" he asked.

"Those are prospective jurors," the judge answered.

"Then never mind the lawyer. I see seven men out there that I owe money to and they'll never send me where I can't pay them back."

Now if only our radio speakers would adopt the new slogan of manufacturers: "Fewer but better."

But think how our armies could be misdirected into ambush if invaders dressed like traffic cops.

For two weeks, a St. Louis woman used a double-barreled shotgun to prevent 50 workers from cutting 10 feet from her property to widen a road. After a judge ruled that she was within her rights because the county had not acquired her land she confessed that her gun had been loaded all the time with black-eyed peas.

We have often noticed the defeated candidate for an office spent more money than the one who was elected. Didn't put the money in the right place.

It seems we can get along very well without an early frost.

More people are having their lives insured now than ever before. There is more to be afraid of.

Circus kids are taught to fall limply, completely relaxed. Being that way explains why the drunk guy is the only survivor.

PAY-OFF
The head of the store was passing through the packing room and saw a boy lounging against a box whistling cheerfully.

"How much do you get a week?" he asked.

"Ten dollars, sir."

"Here's a week's pay—get out."

When he next saw the foreman he asked, "When did we hire that boy?"

"We never hired him; he just brought in a package from another firm."

Matrimony and alimony are two main reasons for divorce.

"Is the prisoner a known thief?" asked the judge. "A known thief?" said the arresting officer. "Why he'd steal the harness off a nightmare."

It is said that 70 per cent of the nation's wealth is in the possession of women. Now she will want to know where the man is hiding that 30 cents.

Now we hear that there are bass fiddles that are run by electricity. We always did think the players of them had a hard job.

Keeping Hemispheric Harmony Headache
Arias Episode Stories In Panama Differ
Axis Powers Trying To Stir Up Trouble

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Arnolfo Arias has been quoted as charging the Washington administration with having instigated the revolution which ousted him as president of Panama.

The alleged interview, plus comments on it by anti-administration public men, who expressed the opinion that it was bad business for Uncle Sam's government to stir up insurrections in Latin America, ran to a couple of columns. It wasn't presented as a mere rumor. It went into all sorts of detail, qualifying absolutely nothing.

The next newspaper I picked up within a few minutes after reading this initial account, related that Arnolfo was being, at the time, held strictly "incommunicado" in prison; wasn't allowed to let out a peep, even his wife wasn't permitted to talk with him.

The "incommunicado" yarn was a likelier sounding of the two, since holding a prisoner in that fashion is a trick Latin authorities are much addicted to.

Axis Policy
However, what Arnolfo was quoted as saying pretty certainly is what he actually would have said if he'd been allowed to do so and what he will be saying as soon as he gets a change. Furthermore, it's the idea that Berlin, Rome and Madrid are doing their best to pump into our southern neighboring republics, on the very probable theory that it'll make 'em suspicious of our meddling in their internal affairs.

The change in Panama regimes was, of course, very gratifying to Washington, since Arnolfo Arias is an anti-Yankee in the politics and the new outfit is very friendly. Washington naturally doesn't like, though, to be represented as having engineered the "coup," because the Axis propagandists are correct in assuming that it isn't a belief calculated to be good advertising for us south of the Rio Grande.

The Panama situation didn't inspire it, but Colonel Armand Brevard, air attaché at Peru's Washington embassy, also got something off the other day that didn't sound overly favorable toward pleasant Pan-American relations.

"To hell with good neighborliness," was his remark.

The colonel's ire was aroused by the Yankee impounding of a batch of 18 bombing planes in New York harbor, just as the little squadron was ready for shipment to Lima.

Presumably Uncle Sam acted because he's aware that Peru and Ecuador are on extremely strained terms over a border dispute, have even done some fighting and it evidently wasn't deemed judicious to let bombers get through to the Peruvians just now, we distinctly don't want international scraping right inside our own hemisphere.

Our recently signed reciprocal trade pact with Argentina is a headache to Washington, too. The Argentines are delighted with it, for it grants Yankee tariff concessions to 'em. In turn they make some concessions to us, which suits our producers of certain classes of commodities, but is far from satisfactory to our farmers and stockmen.

Baby suffers greatly from colic and the family suffers with him. Crying is severe, legs are drawn up, features distorted.

Often the pain will unexplainably cease.

It may return suddenly in a few minutes or the following day.

The causes of colic are many and varied.

There may be an organic cause, such as physical defect.

Food causes the greatest number of colic cases.

The formula is too weak, too rich, too cold or poorly prepared.

There may be too many feedings, or not enough.

Allegry is another cause of colic in young babies.

Nervousness frequently upsets the digestive functions in babies.

Colic is hard on baby and on the anxious, worried parents.

HAPPYGRAMS
By ERICH BRANDEIS

At the recent Danbury Fair, one of Connecticut's famous annual events, G. Mortimer Rundle, 88 years old, was interviewed.

President of the Danbury Agricultural Society, which sponsors the fair, he said that this was his sixty-seventh year of attendance.

According to Rundle, human nature hasn't changed any more since he was 19 than have the cattle, the pumpkins or the corn.

When a reporter asked him whether the costumes worn by the women in those early days weren't a sight, he replied:

"Well, there's more of them a sight nowadays."

When you laugh at the funny things people wore and did in the "good old days" don't forget that folks may roar when they see your picture in the family album fifty years from now.

The World and the Mud Puddles

LET THE PRESS REMAIN FREE.

With the candles of more than two and a half centuries of celebrations cluttering its birthday cake, American journalism recently amassed the respectable total of two hundred fifty-one years of public service. It was back on September 25, 1660, almost a century before the Declaration of Independence, that the first newspaper appeared in the American colonies. Printed in Boston, published by Benjamin Harris, "Public Occurrences" was the Adam and Eve of the American journalistic family.

The life and death of "Public Occurrences" would be of little importance were it not for one fact. On its record appear these words: "Publication suspended! Appearance suppressed by the public authorities!"

In 1941 as in 1660, censorship remains a threat to the very life of every newspaper. The charge of "trivial reflections" that wrote "thirty" to the first American newspaper need not worry today's press. The problems of military and political control, however, write large the question of censorship on the pages of every American journal.

The Press of America, to a far greater degree than even its most ardent deprecators, seeks the answer to the problem of censorship. No American newspaper wants to give away military secrets. No American newspaper wants to harm America or its race.

But every American newspaper believes with its soul and its ink its type and its heart: in free press. It believes a free press means a free people. It believes a captive mind and captive souls. It believes in the right of America to see, read and hear the truth.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE DREAMER.
Once when I was very small I looked at shadows on the wall And always fancied them to be Great sailing vessels on the sea.

I used to watch them slip from port And hear the whistles, long and low.

I fancied it was me they bore To Portsmouth or to Singapore.

Oh, such a dreamy boy was I My ceiling seemed to be the sky And through my window, miles afar,

I followed moon and evening star.

Though half a century has flown The sea still claims me for its own And still before to sleep I slip, For Singapore I often slip.

The little boy that used to be Who once was I still goes to sea And sails the billows vast and deep Until at last he falls asleep.

BIRTHDAYS OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

(Compiled by Encyclopaedia Britannica)

OCTOBER 22.

1759—Thomas Cooper, educator and political philosopher, at London, England. As president of South Carolina College, at Columbia, from 1821 to 1833, he was a crusader for free trade and tried to show that the protective system was especially burdensome to the South. He exercised considerable influence in preparing the people of South Carolina for nullification and secession.

1821—Collis Potter Huntington, railway builder, at Hartwinton, Conn. With a small group of associates, which included Leland Stanford and the Crocker brothers, he promoted and built the Central Pacific railroad. After the completion of this line he planned and built the Southern Pacific which, at his death in 1900, comprised 9,600 miles of track.

1842—Annie Louise Cary, opera singer, at Wayne, Me. She made her debut as a contralto at Copenhagen in 1868 and sang abroad for many years prior to making her first appearance in New York. For ten years she was the most popular singer in America.

Words Of Wisdom

In all the affairs of life, social as well as political, courtesies of a small and trivial character are the ones which strike deepest to the grateful and appreciating heart.—Henry Clay.

Race problems are like children. Those who know how to handle them are the people who haven't any.

John Temple Graves thinks Roosevelt won't take a fourth term. This is the first assurance that the war will be over by 1944.

How funny it will seem, two years from now, to remember how we fussed about a 10 per cent tax on luxuries.

The job may look good; but before accepting it, you'd better learn how long the last three men lasted.

What Noted People Say

NEW YORK—Wendell L. Willkie mulls over his presidential aspirations for 1944:

"If I fit those times, I may be nominated for president despite all the connotations of political manipulators and hacks—and, if I don't fit those times, political strategy may not avail against the unerring instinct of the people."

HAMPTON ROADS, Va.—Secretary of Navy Frank Knox points out that America can not remain blind to the international situation: "We enjoy liberty so long as we defend liberty. We cease to deserve liberty when we fail to defend it."

CHICAGO—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes calls for complete repeal of the Neutrality act: "Its retention will not keep us out of war."

WASHINGTON—Representative V. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey offers his solution to strikes in defense industries:

"Irrespective of who calls strikes, the government must crack down and put defense above all else."

Artful makeup can make an old face look young, but there's nothing out that America can not remain

FORSBERG-CARROLL CEREMONY IN CHURCH

Choosing Tuesday, Oct. 21, the birthday anniversary of her aunt, Mrs. Lucile Griffin of Beaver Falls, and for whom she was named, as her wedding day, Miss Lucile Louise Forsberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Forsberg of New Castle, R. D. 3, became the bride of Jack Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carroll, also of New Castle R. D. 3, on Tuesday evening in the First Church of God, with a large assembly of relatives and friends being present.

The vows were exchanged at 7 o'clock, with the Rev. V. D. Ratzloff, pastor of the First Church of God of Stoneboro, officiating, using the single ring ceremony. The church altar was beautifully embellished with ferns, palms and an artistic arrangement of fall flowers, lending to the colorful setting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a sapphire blue velvet street length dress with desert brown accessories, and her shoulder corsage was of Talisman roses. Serving her sister as maid of honor, Miss Ione Forsberg chose a burgundy velvet dress, street length with sand brown accessories and her shoulder corsage was of pink roses.

James Massion of this city served as best man.

Appropriate wedding music was contributed by Mrs. Herbert Reynolds, organist, and she accompanied as soloist, Victor Rabberman of Ellwood City. He sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly."

Following a congratulatory period in the church, a buffet supper was served to 30 guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tindall on the New Wilmington road, with the nuptial motif predominating.

The couple left later in the evening on a few days motor trip, and upon returning will reside in their newly furnished apartment on Bedford street.

The bride, a graduate of New Castle High, is associated with the Shenango Pottery, and the bridegroom, who attended the local high school, is employed at the Westinghouse in Sharon.

Many beautiful shower and wedding gifts have been received by the couple, which were displayed at the bride's home.

Pythian Sisters

Plans were made for the annual roll call meeting for members of Castle Temple No. 37, Pythian Sisters, at the regular session held Tuesday night in the Malta hall. The roll call meeting will be held on November 4, with the following committee in charge: Mrs. Jennie Ferris, Miss Bessie Durant, Mrs. Ida Kuder and Mrs. Dorothy Maxwell.

A social time followed the business period, and games were enjoyed. Fall flowers were used in decorations for the luncheon table. Refreshments were served by the following committee: Mrs. Elizabeth Patterson, Mrs. Nell Knox, Helena Burkart and Florence Cartwright.

Cameo Club

Members of the Cameo club met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Stanley Nogay, Porter street. Card games were enjoyed, with prizes going to Miss Jane Owyne and Miss Sue James. Special guests included: Miss Katie Miscimarra and Miss Helen Hudak.

A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, with hallowe'en decorations being used. The club will meet next on November 11, with Mrs. Minnie Elsey of 813 Frank avenue.

LADIES OF C. T. P. TO BE GUESTS IN AKRON, O.

The local Ladies C. T. P. Group of the B. and O., have received an invitation to be guests of the Akron, O. C. T. P. Ladies of the B. and O. at their meeting scheduled for October 31.

Those of this locality planning to attend, will get in touch with either of the three chairmen on reservations: Mrs. Ray Mulcahy, East Main street; Mrs. Leo Whalen, Ray street; or Mrs. Fred Lindorfer, Highland avenue, by Friday of this week.

Entertains Friends

As hostess to a party of friends from Greenville, Miss Mary Mulcahy entertained with a hallowe'en lunch at her home, 337 Park avenue, on Tuesday evening.

Miss Mulcahy has recently moved here from Greenville to make her home with her father at the above address, and her friends made yesterday evening the occasion of surprising their hostess with a shower of personal gifts.

Guests present from Greenville were Mrs. Paul Gilman, Mrs. John Connelly, Mrs. Robert Bresnan, Mrs. Myra Seyerlin, Mrs. Leona Shoeff, Miss Ethel Murrin, Miss Sally Fobes, Miss Alma Peters, Miss Evelyn Ruffing and Miss Virginia Tate.

Lazy Daisy Club

Lazy Daisy club associates, enjoyed an informal social period Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. L. J. Tindall on Butler avenue, with sewing as the diversion.

Lunch was served at a suitable time by the hostess, with Mrs. Paul Keele, assisting.

On November 4, the club will meet with Mrs. Edwin Beatty on John street.

G. G.'s Club Meets

Members of the G. G.'s club met at a local tea room Tuesday evening, with Jean Glenn, hostess. Bridge was the pastime, and following play, lunch was served by candlelight.

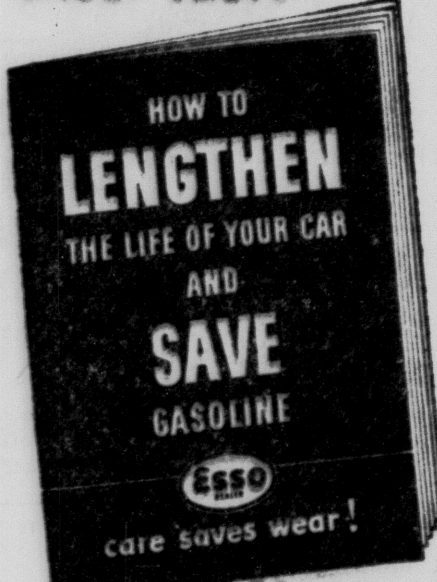

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 4, the hostess to be announced.

Suffers Harmful Fall

The many friends here of Mrs. Will L. Aiken, 290 Case street, Sharon, and wife of the editor of the Sharon Herald, will be sorry to learn that in a fall at her home recently she suffered a broken left arm.

LEONARD SMITH'S ON WEDDING TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, nee Jeannette Kulk, are on a wedding trip to Detroit, Michigan, Toronto, Canada, Buffalo, and New York City, following their marriage, which took place here on October 19, in The Castleton, being attended by a large assemblage of guests.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Kulk of 428 Boyles avenue, became the bride of Mr. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mendel Smith of Struthers, O., at a ceremony performed by Rabbi Gilbert Eliezer of Tifereth Israel Synagogue, at 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Smith wore an aqua tulle suit with matching feather hat and her shoulder corsage was of white orchids. Miss Shirley Levy, aunt of the bride of Punksutawney, wore a tulle gown, blue Princess dress and contrasting shoulder bouquet. Milton Smith served his brother as best man.

Dinner was served to 137 guests afterwards in the main dining room of The Castleton, and a reception followed with several hundred guests attending, upwards of 300 being present from Youngstown, O., and many others from surrounding vicinities.

The bride is a graduate of New Castle High with the June class of '39. She attended Julliard School of Music in New York and Columbia University. The bridegroom graduated from Michigan State and is an accountant, being located in this city, where they will take up residence upon returning from their motor trip.

The bride was feted at a number of parties and showers, and many beautiful gifts have been received by the couple.

M. P. M. Club

The meeting of the M. P. M. club scheduled for Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cugini of Taylor street has been postponed until further notice.

Christening Held

Mr. and Mrs. Sam DeStefano of Canyon street were hosts Sunday at the christening of their son, Thomas James DeStefano.

The christening was held in St. Vitus church on Sunday morning, sponsors for the infant being Mr. and Mrs. Kirk DeLorenzo of Locust street.

Following a dinner was served at the DeStefano residence.

GIANNI-BIASELLA

NUPITAL CEREMONY

One of the prettiest of fall weddings was solemnized this morning in St. Vitus church uniting in marriage Miss Mary Gianni, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Bucci of 426 East Lutton street, and Armond Biasella, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Biasella of Akron, O.

Before a beautifully arranged altar and in the presence of relatives and friends, vows were exchanged by the young couple at 9:30 o'clock at a nuptial high mass. The Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, officiated using the single ring service.

Given in marriage by her brother, Humbert Gianni, the bride was lovely in an old-fashioned gown of white more tulle, made with fitted bodice, full skirt and full elbow sleeves. Her fingertip veil was caught with a crown of orange blossoms, and for her only jewelry she wore a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascading bouquet of orchids and pom poms.

Miss Annabelle Gianni, as her sister's maid of honor, was attired in a gown of deep rose, patterned similar to that of the bride's, with silver accessories. She wore a Juliet cap and carried an arm bouquet of white mums and pom poms.

William Biasella served his brother as best man.

Supplementing the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at a suburban dining room. "Open house" is being held from 4 to 7 o'clock this afternoon and evening at the home of the bride's parents, East Lutton street.

Mr. and Mrs. Biasella will depart for Florida and Texas on a two weeks wedding trip, and upon their return will reside at Akron, O., where Mr. Biasella is a clerk. Mrs. Biasella was formerly employed at the Beatus shop.

Out-of-town guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Armond Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Donatelli, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Biasella, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Biasella, and Mr. and Mrs. William Biasella of Akron, O.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Plots Agree To Clean Up
Gardens Each Fall

With most of this year's garden crop finished, persons who have been using the city-owned garden plots near the city disposal plant just outside Mahoningtown, have begun to clean up their plots.

Each season the gardeners plant their gardens with the understanding that they will leave the ground as they found it in the fall. Any person who fails to take care of this matter may be refused the use of the ground in following season.

CHURCH SODALITY OUTING TONIGHT

Members of the Immaculate Conception sodality of St. Lucy's church will have a winter roast as their final outing of the year before the winter season, this evening at 7:30 o'clock on Oakhurst grounds.

Following the tasty meal, which will be prepared over a huge bonfire, an informal dancing and other diversions will be held.

Jean LaMarco is the general chairlady of the event, and her aides are Elvira Thomas, Rose Leone, Angelina LaStracco and Lydia LaMarco.

REPAIRING HOUSES

Many people in the local district are making repairs to their houses at the present time. This has been a good year for repairs and more houses were put in good condition this year, it is believed, than for a number of years.

USE MAIL BOX

Many people find it more convenient to drop their mail in the box in front of the Mahoningtown post office rather than to take it a few steps farther into the office lobby.

NEW GARAGES

Several new garages are under construction in the Seventh Ward at the present time. Some are being constructed of concrete blocks while others are being built of wood.

What's What
At A Glance

is that almost all its products (crops and cattle) are precisely like ours and our agriculture and animal interests how like sixty at letting 'em into the United States at reduced import rates, in competition with our own.

On our side, we turn out machinery and many kinds of processed goods that the Argentines don't manufacture but need, so they're perfectly willing to lower their trade barriers against us, if we'll lower ours against them, but it's hard to make the system work well both ways.

Countries like Brazil, Bolivia and Chile have tropical stuff and minerals that we don't produce, require and must import, so we can swap with them.

We and the Argentine are too much alike. The new treaty's o. k. with the Argentines but our farmers and businessmen and shepherds screech like fury. Yet a friendly Argentina is a prime necessity to western hemispherical good neighborliness.

It all keeps the state department guessing.

Occupants of an automobile said to have been driven by James Ellis of Green street narrowly escaped serious injury when the car went over a wall into the Neshannock creek about 2:30 o'clock this morning.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Grove street and South Croton avenue, on the old Rosena furnace lot. According to reports Ellis was enroute home from work at Johnson Bronze company, and the fog was so heavy that he missed the turn into South Croton and the car went over the wall.

The automobile overturned and was badly damaged. The occupants escaped through the roof of the vehicle.

Esco Owens of 106 1/2 Center street suffered injuries of the right foot in the accident. His companions carried him to Central fire station where he was given first aid treatment.

The car was finally snaked out of the creek bed about 11:30 o'clock this morning by a wrecker. A large crowd witnessed the operation.

Pittsburgh Is Facing General
Strike ThreatBy WILLIAM THEIS
International News Service Staff
Editorial correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 22.—Workday Pittsburghers today were face-to-face with the blunt threat of an A. F. L. general strike in their defense-driven industrial metropolis.

It was a walkout threat originating in a dispute over union rights to utility installation and construction work but, unless settled before Monday, it appeared destined to affect virtually everyone in the district in some small way.

State and federal mediators, flanked by big and little businessmen represented through the Chamber of Commerce and city officials, had planted themselves solidly to hold the door to negotiations ajar.

Remembering the series of other local strikes in recent months—ranging from a defense-paralyzing walkout of truckers to the recently settled strike of hotel service workers—they were determined to prevent anything so drastic as a general strike. After another night session of mediation conferences, the outcome still was in doubt.

As negotiations lagged, Sheriff John Heinz—denouncing the threatened strike as a "terrible mistake"—called for immediate federal control of it.

SPUDS APLENTY THIS YEAR

MANCHESTER, N. H.—Plenty of spuds in the bin of Dr. W. H. Bennett this year. Two years ago he stored a quantity of potatoes in a cellar where the temperature was just above freezing during the winter months. Last November he took the spuds, then well exposed to low temperatures, and planted them eight inches deep in 150 hills. One hundred hills broke ground and began to flourish. Taters of average size were ready for digging in August.

U. S. Navy Notes Of Interest Here

Ernest Iafra, son of Mr. and Mrs. Domenic Iafra, 633 Cascade street, enlisted in the U. S. Navy Reserve for a four year term and was sent to the Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I., for six weeks basic instructions. During this period examinations are held to determine the new recruits qualifications for further training at one of the Navy's many trade schools.

Iafra, a former student at New Castle Senior High School, was employed at the Blair Strip Steel Co. at the time of enlistment.

Word has been received from three young men of this area that are now serving in the U. S. Navy. They want their friends to know of their whereabouts and activities.

William M. Magee, 218 Falls street, enlisted June 11 and is now in the Aviation Machinist School at Jacksonville, Fla. A part of Bill's letter reads as follows: "You know a fellow really doesn't know what the Navy does offer until he gets here and finds out. I think if things continue to go as they are now I'll stay in for a pension. Why not? It's just like a regular job only I'm sure of it all the time."

James P. Lutton, R. D. No. 7, New Castle, enlisted March 5, and has just graduated from the Aviation Machinist School at Jacksonville, Fla. He is being transferred to the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla.

Eldon E. Balmer, Enon Valley, Pa., enlisted July 15. He completed the training at Newport, R. I., and is now a student in the Ordnance School at the Naval Training Station, San Diego, Cal.

It is not by accident that the United States Navy sets the best table of any Navy in the world with food of uniformly high quality. First grade quality is demanded by the specifications of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, which purchases the Navy's food; and the Navy's cooks and bakers are expertly trained in their field.

The Navy trains enlisted recruits as cooks and bakers at its four great naval training stations: Great Lakes, Illinois; Norfolk, Virginia; Newport Rhode Island, and San Diego, California. It also operates a school for cooks and bakers at Noroton Heights, Connecticut. What might be termed the Navy's post graduate school for cooks and bakers is operated at San Diego.

The Navy Department continually strives to improve its facilities for handling and preparing food. The finest of refrigeration facilities are a part of its ships; likewise the best of galley equipment. Endeavor is made to provide a range of well-balanced and appetizing foods.

Size of a galley aboard ship is governed by the number of men normally attached to a vessel. The galley of a battleship or cruiser compares in detail with that of a first class, large hotel. Oil burning ranges, mechanical dough mixers, bread cutters, cake mixers and other modern devices are employed.

In smaller vessels, particularly submarines, the galley is by necessity small. However, its completeness would surprise most folk. On one of the larger modern submarines, the galley is approximately six feet wide by ten and a half feet long and has the following equipment: two electric ranges, one hot plate, coffee urn, sink, table, four lockers for cooking utensils and seven lockers for provisions.

State Employment Situation Is 'Extremely Favorable'

Secretary Hines Makes Report

Job Placements By State Bureau Surpass All Previous Months

UNEMPLOYMENT CLAIMS LOWER

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Oct. 22.—The employment situation in Pennsylvania today was termed "extremely favorable" by Secretary of Labor and Industry Lewis G. Hines.

"Not only have job placements by the bureau of employment and unemployment compensation surpassed all previous monthly totals, but a marked decrease in monthly disbursements against the state's unemployment compensation fund has appeared," Hines stated.

Bearing out Hines' optimistic statement, Rolland S. Wallis, director of the state bureau of research and statistics, disclosed that the state employment service has found more jobs this year for unemployed workers in Pennsylvania than during any previous 12-month period.

By October 10, Wallis revealed 193,290 unemployed persons had been placed in new jobs, compared to 127,000 during a corresponding period in 1940.

Best Year
"This is by far the best year the employment service has had," said a spokesman for the state employment bureau.

Wallis said the number of job placements had been increasing every month this year, with the exception of August, when it fell by a few hundred. After that it rose again, he said, and is still on the increase.

Despite the improved employment situation, the active files of the state employment service still contained the names of 272,000 job applicants of October 1, but this too compared favorably with a year ago when 310,000 unemployed were listed, Wallis disclosed.

It was emphasized that the 193,290 job placements made this year by the employment service do not represent the total number of new jobs in Pennsylvania made available by the nation's defense program and the impetus provided by the war. Many unemployed workers do not register with the employment service and obtain jobs through their own resources.

Good Barometer
The employment service's statistics provided an extremely good barometer, however, it was added, of improved employment and business conditions in Pennsylvania since the first of the year.

Still another indication of better economic conditions was provided by Secretary Hines.

"Fewer unemployment compensation checks were issued during August by the bureau to jobless workers than at any time since the commencement of check payments under the Pennsylvania unemployment insurance program in February 1938," he revealed.

There is now approximately $180,000,000 in the unemployment compensation fund, into whose disbursements a legislative committee is now delving. A second meeting of the committee, headed by Sen. John H. Dent (D., Westmoreland), is to be held tomorrow with Ernest Kelly, executive director of the bureau of employment and unemployment compensation, scheduled to be the chief witness. At a meeting last week, the committee heard Deputy Attorney General David R. Perry testify concerning the payment of fraudulent claims to claimants ineligible for compensation.

Coaltown Church Quarterly Meeting
The first quarterly meeting of the new conference year will be observed in the Coaltown Free Methodist church, Walmoe, October 24, 25, 26, with the district superintendent, Rev. L. J. Lindsey in charge of all services.

Rev. Lindsey will preach on Friday and Saturday evenings at 7:30 o'clock.

The following order of services will be followed on Sunday:
Sunday school, 9:45 o'clock; Love feast, 10:30 o'clock; sermon by Rev. Lindsey, 11:15 o'clock; class meeting, 7 p. m.; closing sermon by Rev. Lindsey, 8 p. m.

Thirteen Additional Districts Become 'Dry'

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 22.—The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board reported the official results of the 1941 local option elections, today disclosed that seven additional municipalities have become dry for liquor and six for beer.

The "wet or dry" question was placed on the ballot in 90 Pennsylvania municipalities this year with most of the election held in rural sections of the state. The 90 municipalities voted on the question comprised 34 boroughs and 56 townships scattered throughout 36 counties.

The following is a summary of results of local option elections held at the September 9 primary:
Number dry voting dry, 19 liquor and 19 beer; number wet voting wet, 32 liquor and 34 beer; number wet voting dry, 14 liquor and 12 beer; number dry voting wet, seven liquor and six beer.

The total vote cast at the election, according to the liquor board statement, was 51 per cent of the vote cast by the same municipalities at the 1938 gubernatorial election. Eighteen communities voted on the question of permitting the sale of malt beverage licenses, 19 cast ballots for retail liquor licenses, while the remaining 53 voted on both questions.

A total of 72 elections was held on the question of granting retail liquor licenses. In 51 or 70 per cent, there was no change of status, while in the remaining 21 per cent, 14 wet municipalities voted wet, making a net gain of seven dry municipalities. A net gain of six dry municipalities was recorded after the malt beverage elections were tabulated.

In 51 of the municipalities voting on local option this year, no retail licenses of any type were in effect, while of the 39 remaining municipalities in which licenses were in effect, seven voted dry. The net potential decrease in licenses, as a result of all local option elections this year, the board stated, is 13.

The board announced that the effect of all option elections since repeal is that 5.5 per cent of Pennsylvania's populations is dry for the sale of all types of retail licenses. The state contains 2,571 cities, boroughs and townships.

Ben Franklin Girls Study Home Nursing

Class Of Twenty In Ninth Grade Taking Red Cross Course

Need for a strong "Home Front" is being realized by the ninth grade girls of Ben Franklin Junior high school. Under the leadership of Miss Mary Scherger, faculty supervisor of the club activities, twenty girls are taking the Red Cross home nursing course. Mrs. Travis French, Lawrence County Red Cross Chapter instructor, is in charge of the group.

Interest was so keen at the first meeting that the class voted to give up their Friday afternoon study period and have two home nursing classes a week.

F. L. Burton, principal of the Ben Franklin Junior high school, is cooperating with the Lawrence County Red Cross Chapter in making all the necessary arrangements for this home defense course.

Scouts To Mark Book Week Here

Rabbi Norman H. Diamond, chairman of reading for the Lawrence County Boy Scout Council, is making plans for the district scouts to observe National Book Week, November 2-8.

According to Rabbi Diamond, celebration of this week was originated by the Boy Scout organization more than 20 years ago. "Forward With Books" is the slogan that has been adopted for the occasion.

An effort is being made to interest all Scouts and others in reading as much as possible. Rabbi Diamond pointed out that if a person would read an hour a day, a complete book could be completed in two weeks, and if continued, the reader will have digested 26 books by the end of the year.

Urges Preventive Measures On Cops

Keystone Auto Club Suggests State Police Change Methods

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—Citing the steadily mounting death toll on Pennsylvania's highways, the Keystone Automobile club suggests that state police concentrate more on preventive enforcement and less on mere apprehension of speeders.

The club estimated that the number of license suspensions for 1941 will increase more than 4,000 over the 21,163 figure recorded last year. "Speeding" penalties constituted 37 per cent of all suspensions in 1940, club figures showed.

"This brings up the question of whether too much emphasis is being placed on the apprehension of speeders, rather than a concerted police effort to reduce accidents through preventive enforcement," said Club Secretary James J. Whelan.

The total cat population of the city of New York was once estimated by the S. P. C. A. at 1,500,000.

DUFFORD'S 318 and 320 E. WASHINGTON ST.Holland Campaign Of Sabotage Hampers NazisBy MERILL MUELLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Thousands of Dutchmen are in concentration camps today and thousands more have been tortured by their Nazi overlords but the quiet, underground campaign of passive resistance and sabotage continues in Holland with ever increasing effectiveness.

Dutchmen, stolid by nature, believe in action rather than talk. The reluctant Free Dutch government in London claims that only 51 Dutchmen have been executed, and slightly more than 400 imprisoned or sent to concentration camps for open resistance to German occupation.

The official viewpoint was given International News Service today by a spokesman for the Free Dutch government.

He said: "Dutchmen live only to sabotage the German occupation and regain the independence of their country but only two instances of sabotage have been spectacular."

Talk But Little
"We have adopted a policy of talking as little as possible about what we know is going on in Holland, on the simple theory of protecting those working from within for our country's liberation."

"The official German radio has confirmed our information but 51 Dutchmen have been executed for sabotage, arson or in reprisal for the killing of German sentries, but we have a well-founded belief that the actual numbers are far greater."

"The Germans are cleverly hiding executions by claiming that convicted persons have been given the benefit of German justice, and have had their death sentences commuted to imprisonment."

"Some 400 have been listed by the Germans as imprisoned. We believe the figures are closer to several thousands in concentration camps—and only the Germans can tell us how many they have tortured to death."

Unlike other "free governments," the Dutch have a strict policy of stopping publication of information relative to the arrival of Dutch men women and children who have escaped from Holland, somehow crossed the channel or reached Portugal, and thence England. However, small parties of these people continue to arrive each week.

For the benefit of International News Service, the official spokesman interviewed one of the latest arrivals, a man who will soon join other Dutchmen in the Royal Air Force. Then he translated for him. He said:

Strong But Unspectacular
"He confirms what I tell you. Our passive resistance remains strong but unspectacular."

"There have been no large-scale executions since the two bloodiest weeks when the Germans executed 18 Dutchmen for destruction of the big Veluwe ammunition dump, and seriously damaging the German freighter Rotterdam."

The Dutch sabotage may be unspectacular but it certainly is most effective. The Veluwe ammunition dump, it is known, blew up with such force that it seriously damaged a nearby village, while the German freighter Rotterdam was almost broken in two when a heavy loading crane mysteriously collapsed through its hold.

The spokesman gestured toward the young man and continued:

"This boy first told us that the Hague mysteriously caught fire last month, destroying most of the documents in the German control office there. This month the Reichwehr's food control center at Rotterdam burned to the ground with heavy loss."

"The Germans ordered half a million pigs slaughtered and delivered to the army. The pigs were slaughtered all right, but the carcasses just disappeared into the Dutch 'black markets.'"

"Every Dutchman takes great delight in giving Germans the wrong directions to anywhere and, at the same time, hoards his sugar to mix with molasses. Then the mixture is poured into the gasoline tanks of German army cars and trucks—raising hell with their road communications."

"The 'Gruene Polizei'—Nazi ruff who are charged with maintaining civil control—are answering these measures today with new waves of extreme brutality that are likely to increase our underground casualties."

The spokesman stopped and looked at me for a moment.

Then he said very quietly: "But the fight will go on."

Susceptibility to tickling is partially under the control of the will. Considerable resistance can be developed.

Defense Classes To Start Tonight

Classes at the local defense training center, of the Pennsylvania State college open at the New Castle senior high school tonight.

In addition to the 237 already registered for tuition-free evening classes here, a number of additional students will be permitted to enroll tonight. Late registrants may enter the government-sponsored courses by reporting at the high school from 7 to 9 p. m.

Raymond Hunter, representative of the college, will formally open the local class center, assisted by L. C. Black, local administrative head. Courses are to be given two nights per week, lasting about 15 weeks.

Local residents will be among some 14,000 men and women who will receive training by Penn State this fall. Purpose of the program is to provide skilled workers for expanding defense industries.

People must wake up and get mad. If prices double, it means your income is cut in half.

YOUTH INJURED AS AUTO HITS BRIDGE

Reese Wynder, aged 15 years, of R. F. D. No. 5, suffered a severe laceration of the lip about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when an automobile driven by Frederick Walzer of R. F. D. No. 5, in which he was a passenger, skidded on the wet pavement and struck a bridge on Route 956, between East Brook and the Perry highway.

Wynder was brought to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he is undergoing treatment. Several others in the car received minor injuries, which did not require treatment, it is stated.

New Castle Hopes To Extend Streak

Red Hurricane Has Won 20 Out Of Last 21 Games Played Since 1939

Campbell Memorial Will Send Strong Eleven With Fortner As Spearhead

A serious threat to the long winning streak of the New Castle High "Red Hurricane" football machine will appear here at Taggart Stadium on Friday night in the Campbell Memorial eleven. The locals have won 20 out of the last 21 starts, having tied Butler last year 6-6.

The kickoff at 8 o'clock is bound to find the stands well filled. Campbell will send a big delegation of fans here for the game. Campbell last year was followed here by close to 1,000 fans.

Not In Good Shape
The New Castle team will enter the game Friday night in a somewhat crippled condition. Bob Doster and Genkinger were casualties last Friday in the Washington game, suffering almost identical hip injuries that necessitated their being taken out of the lineup. Parou is still nursing a pair of bad ankles and Zubkowsky's shoulder and side is still giving him some trouble.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh is not giving the boys any strenuous drills this week. "We are brushing up on pass defense, as I understand from our scouts who have seen Campbell play that the Ohioans employ a very fine and accurate passing attack," was the way "Bridy" put it.

Fortner Big Star
Harold Fortner, the 200 pound Campbell left-half who scored the lone Campbell touchdown here last season is looking forward to a big night on Friday evening. Fortner is the spearhead of the Campbell offense and with his tremendous drive backed by his 200 pounds can shove the ball along the gridiron with no effort. Two other clever backfield men who played against New Castle last season are: Baral-laure and Macejko, both boys are figuring on causing plenty of New Castle headaches.

On the line will be two veterans who faced New Castle here last year—Kish a tackle and Cioli, a guard. Both boys are big and fast and highly rated linemen.

Expect Big Crowd
In the event of a nice night the Taggart stadium stands will no doubt see a near capacity crowd. The tickets are on sale at the Sportsman's store and are meeting a ready demand by the fans.

All men in uniform who will be admitted to the game free of charge are to occupy the bleacher seats on the western side of the field and will enter the game at the pass gate at the southern end of the stadium.

Revolver Club Meets Tonight
The Sportsman Revolver club will hold its weekly shoot this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Cathedral range. It was announced by Secretary Charles Schweinsberg today.

The club, one of the few of its kind in western Pennsylvania is enjoying a new season of shooting and the members are showing a keen interest.

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 22.—Fate— even football— fate— plays strange tricks on players.
Ed Hamilton, Westminster college sophomore, is shown here over the ball, with Clyde Hopkins, Titusville junior, back in kicking formation. At the opening of the Titan season this year Hamilton was touted as a "number one find" at the pivot post, and Hopkins was slated to do most of the Titan punting.
But with line-shifts, Hamilton is now playing a regular end position for the Titans, and has developed into a better end than he was a center, even after playing four years of high school ball in the terminal post. Tall, rangy, and fast, Hamilton is ideal as an end.
Hopkins gave way to Dick Newton, Titan halfback, in the punting department, and is now playing a tackle position for the Blue and White.
Only by chance was Newton's kicking ability discovered, but "Dashing Dick" has run away from all his competition in the kicking department. He has outplayed all opponents this season: Tech, Slippery Rock, Hiram, and Geneva.

Moose Club Will Honor Champions

Tonight is the night, and the Moose club on South Mercer will be the scene as the Moose club members gather since 200 strong to honor the championship Moose baseball and golf teams. The program starts at 6:30 o'clock with a dinner.

General Chairman Walter L. Ringer said today that everything is in readiness for the biggest party the Moose has ever seen. Over 200 tickets for the dinner and entertainment have been sold. Nothing has been left undone to pay real honor to two great championship teams.

Attorney Joseph Solomon has been secured to act as toastmaster. Four amateur boxing exhibitions will take place as part of the gigantic program of entertainment that will be provided for those who attend.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Sports Trail Melody:—

Forrest Raffel, better known to the local sports world as "Fuzzy", was an important guy in Baltimore last Saturday. Raffel, a student at Cornell university, was selected to spot his alma mater's players for one of the bigger net works during the progress of the Cornell-Navy classic. "Fuzzy" who does most everything with aplomb, was in rare form.

Sergeant Johnny Dean, the ex-local fighting standout, has concluded a visit here. Dean, now stationed in Connellsville, is spreading out around the mid-section. From a middleweight, Dean has sprung into a light-heavy. Alex Dutkin, who plays basketball, football, and golf, only to mention a few sports is on Slippery Rock's cross country team.

Al Bucci, who shifted to Youngstown college a few weeks ago, saw a bit of action against Oklahoma City last week-end, and played his customary good game, according to several localities who were in the stands. Earl Hanna, a Volant athlete, is starring on Slippery Rock's cross country outfit this season.

Panthers Expect To Be In Best Condition Of Season For Game

(Special To The News)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 22.—Barring mishaps on the practice field this week, the Pitt Panthers are going to move into the game with Duke at the Pitt Stadium this Saturday in the best physical condition that they have been in this season.

The Panthers came out of the Minnesota game without a casualty. There were a few bumps and bruises, but the entire team that started against the Gophers is ready for the Blue Devils this week.

There is not likely to be any lineup changes this Saturday, the combination that faced the opening kickoff against Minnesota apparently being the best that has been brought together thus far.

Duke came up with the best offensive outfit in the Southern Conference, perhaps as good as that shown by Minnesota. In Moffatt Storer, their crack tailback, they have the fastest man playing football today, and to the Panthers, with memories of Minnesota's Higgins still fresh in their memories this will be bad news.

Storer is only part of a great backfield that includes Leo Long, one of the finest sophomores in the country; Steven Lach, whose pass receiving hurt and hurt bad

In terms of figures, Navy's 14-0 lacing of Cornell was the worst defeat on the Ithacans since 1937 when the Snafelymen lost by three points. Notre Dame completed its grid series with Carnegie Tech by copping 15 out of 19 triumphs. Tommy Harmon isn't a forgotten man around the University of Michigan. Tommy's picture adorns the 1941 grid tickets.

Pitt's 1942 eleven will be confronted with another back breaking schedule. The Panthers start with a breather, facing Minnesota, Southern Methodist, Indiana, Duke, Carnegie Tech, Ohio State, Nebraska and Penn State come in the order named. Purdue and Fordham will be dropped after this season.

Quickies: Joe Maniaci, fullback star of the Chicago Bears, shoofs golf in the low 70's. Here it is only October and Alsab is already favored to win next year's Kentucky Derby. Maxie Baer is picking a few easy nickels refereeing bouts. When will Pitt break the ice and score a point? Robert Grush, Tulane's quarterback, takes top honors as a signal barker. He has won a number of elocution medals.

last fall, and who can do as many things well as any halfback Pitt has faced yet, or will face; and Tommy Prothro, 210 pound blocking back. The Blue Devils, undefeated in four starts against Wake Forest, Tennessee, Maryland, and Colgate, are due in Pittsburgh Friday morning.

These are lines received from the former heavyweight bearcat, Tom McMahon who watched Franklin score a TKO over big Abe Simon at Cleveland, Monday night. McMahon met acquaintances who send their regards to New Castle, many of them having been here either as persons interested in fighters or who came to see of the more stellar fights either before or when the Jolly bowl was operating. Among them were Tom Walsh, Nate Lewis and Martin Forkins of Chicago. Jimmy Johnson, manager of Simon, Mike McKinney of Canton and Tom Manning of Cleveland. Tom also writes that Eddie Conrad, who formerly boxed for Jimmie Dunn here is foreman in a defense manufacturing plant in Cleveland.

Two hundred persons will attend the Loyd Order of Moose banquet in honor of the Moose baseball and golf teams tonight in the Moose banquet hall. The local lodge has been interested only a few years in athletics. However, they have gone a long way in a short time. Walter Ringer is in charge of tonight's festivities.

FIND WOMEN ARE MORE SUSCEPTIBLE TO NIGHT GLARE
(International News Service)
BERKELEY, Cal.—Men drivers recover more quickly than do women from the glare blindness caused by automobile headlights at night, it is indicated in a study by psychologists of the University of California.

The study is being made in hopes that findings may help reduce the number of automobile accident fatalities at night. It is being conducted by Dr. C. W. Brown, associate professor of psychology, who is aided by H. P. Torkelson and L. B. Fisk, psychology students.

"During the normal hours of darkness, from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m., deaths from automobile accidents increased 18 per cent from 1930 to 1939," the psychologists pointed out.

One of the factors increasing hazards of night driving is glare blindness, the psychologists said. Glare blindness means the speed of recovery of normal night vision following blinding by oncoming headlights.

Union Is Crippled For Shenango Game

Brown And Presnar, Regular Ends, Will Be Out Of County Class B Tilt

FOOTBALL CARD HERE COLORFUL THIS WEEK

Riddled by injuries, a patched up Union Township high lineup will take the field against Shenango Township high, Friday afternoon at 2:30 on Union field, in a crucial county class B game.

Coach John Susko is endeavoring to mold together a formidable eleven in the hope of downing one of Shenango's best combinations in many years. The genial blond mentor today said that Brown and Presnar, regular ends, will be out of the game. Brown is nursing a hip injury while Presnar is bench chained by a bad knee.

Jaskolka To Start
Cumberland and Lawrence have been moved up to the wing posts. Wait Jaskolka, the ramming fullback, is getting over the effects of a chest injury sustained in the Grove City game two weeks ago. Jaskolka will start, however, Susko said.

Coach Susko hinted that his blue and white proteges will stick to the ground in the hope of bowling over the stubborn crosstown rivals. "While we plan using the airplanes we'll stick mostly to the ground game," Susko said.

Across town, Shenango is rounding into mid-season form for the clash. Well rested as a result of an idle date last week-end, the East New Castle club will converge onto the field in fine fettle.

Shenango romped off the field with a 12-0 triumph last season and hopes to repeat. Bessemer will be the remaining barrier to the county class B championship if the East New Castle force defeats the game Union machine.

Campbell Here Friday
New Castle high's clash with Campbell Memorial here on Friday night, adds considerable lustre to one of the most colorful football week-ends of the season. The "Canes", moving along the stripes with metronomic precision, shoot for their eighth consecutive victory of the season.

Ellwood City's smooth eleven meets its stiffest challenge of the season, facing Aliquippa high Friday night at Aliquippa. The Ellwoodians have bagged five triumphs so far. A tie with Butler is the only blot on an exceptionally enviable record.

Bessemer high, which is getting over the effects of a bruising tussle with Sharpsburg, engages Scienceville high Saturday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock at Bessemer.

Westminster college, one of the greatest Titan elevens in several seasons, travels to Greenville, Pa. Saturday, bent on smearing Thiel college's spotless record.

The breakfast order? Fifteen chickens, 5 1-2 gallons of iced tea, and—definitely not—no rye bread.

SPY CHASERS ARE THORNS IN SIDE

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—Patriotic citizens who see a spy behind every bush and suspect every foreign-looking person of sabotage are a thorn in the side of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, says the nation's No. 2 G-man.

Hundreds of complaints reach the F. B. I. daily which, if investigated by citizens, would cause "ostracism, bankruptcy, injury, broken bones and possibly death," according to Louis B. Nichols, assistant to F. B. I. Director J. Edgar Hoover.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEKALL

Halloween this year will be a big night for the citizens of New Castle and the surrounding territory . . . those good people from Long Avenue are joining with the people from Washington street to make this Halloween the greatest time ever. Hope it is a nice clear night and the moon might shine on the old witch as she rides through the sky on her broom. And we hope above all else that the pranks that some boys like to pull off won't be the destructive type of prank. Good clean fun can be enjoyed by all . . . let's show the world that New Castle can have fun in a good clean way . . . so watch the paper for further details concerning the big Parade.

Mrs. Dean at Dean's Barbeque on the Harlansburg Road has about five kittens that she would like to give away . . . in case you care to call the number is 8123-J1.

Of course things are not the same in London today as they were two years ago . . . but one thing has not changed and this morning and yesterday morning remind us of London and the famous fog . . . or mist or whatever their Chamber of Commerce calls it . . . Out in California they would say that this fog was partly solidified sunshine and that it was good for the complexion . . . but around here it's just plain fog and driving is not too easily accomplished.

It's up to you and you and you to keep this country safe. Are you going to sit back and let undesirables come along and capture the controlling interests of government. This is a free country and we are all entitled to our own thoughts . . . that is why you should think clearly and then get out and vote November 4th. Don't sit back and let Johnny do it . . . maybe Johnny doesn't think too clearly . . . if you want a job done right, get out and do it yourself.

Day after day folks are calling in and telling us about the classified ads they have inserted in this paper. One fellow spent two dollars for an ad to sell some household goods and within four hours after the paper appeared on the street he had sold from his home six hundred dollars worth of merchandise. Another story tells about the selling of clothing . . . another about the purchase of a good first class shot gun . . . oh, there are just hundreds of these cases . . . won't you try a classified ad?

Narrow Range In Market Prices

Colorless Session Of New York Stock Market Is Reported This Morning

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The stock market lapsed into a colorless and narrow price range today following its fair-sized advance yesterday. Combined averages ruled a shade lower.

Most pivotal issues held within fractions of last night's closing levels. The tone was steady at the opening, but as the session progressed minus signs became more numerous.

The majority of stocks held well under the light influx of selling. Calumet & Hecla gave up most of yesterday's gain of 1/8 on the Washington announcement the company was not, as originally reported, one of the three firms getting subsidies on copper production.

Minor losses were shown by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, American Telephone, U. S. Rubber, Consolidated Edison, Santa Fe and N. Y. Central.

Westinghouse Electric dropped almost a point to within a fraction of its 1941 bottom.

Among the stocks to buck the easier trend were standard oil of N. J., Texas Corp., Eastman Kodak, Liggett & Myers "B" and International Harvester.

Preston Flaherty Addresses Wolves

Delivers Interesting Address On "Junior Achievement" On Tuesday Night

Preston J. Flaherty, treasurer of the Johnson Bronze company, addressed Wolves club members in The Castleton on Tuesday evening. Flaherty spoke interestingly about "Junior Achievement." He briefly reviewed the history of the plan. Flaherty traced the start of the idea to England and brought out the fact that it was adopted in Pittsburgh about three years ago. The plan is rapidly spreading in this country, Flaherty asserted.

Final plans were made for the Wolves dinner-dance Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock in The Castleton. Paul Fiala is general chairman.

At the conclusion of the meeting the group gathered for its regular bowling session.

Four Vehicles In Crash During Fog

J. G. Weingartner Injured In Accident On Ellwood Road Today

J. G. Weingartner, New Castle, R. D. 1, was treated by a physician at his home for injuries to the head sustained in an accident in which four motor vehicles were concerned on the Ellwood City-New Castle road in Slippery Rock township at six a. m. today. Fog played a role in the accident, according to the State Motor police.

According to what the motor police learned a car, license and driver unknown at this time, for some reason stopped on the highway.

Jess Dougherty, New Castle, R. D. 1, operating a truck, followed this car and was forced to stop "short" when the preceding car stopped. Dougherty's truck struck the car lightly. The auto was driven away.

In the rear of Dougherty's truck was the milk truck driven by Weingartner. The latter's truck ran into the rear of Dougherty's truck and while these were being separated another auto driven by Robert McHattie, New Castle, R. D. 1, struck the rear of Weingartner's truck.

Fog also caused an accident between cars reportedly operated by George E. McCurdy, 213 Elm street, this city and Clifford Boeber, Wampum, R. D. 1, three miles from Ellwood City, on the road to New Castle, at 6:30 a. m. today. No one was hurt.

Mr. Kovach, revived in about an hour, and started for aid from the neighbors. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pearson, about fifty feet away, but he became unconscious again for about half an hour.

He brought back the Pearsons, who immediately called a doctor, who administered "shots" and some capsules to relieve the intense pain. They were soon rushed to the hospital, where they received treatment.

Draftees Told To Cooperate

Personal Reasons Why Men Should Cooperate Closely Told By Lewis

ADDRESS CHANGES SHOULD BE GIVEN

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 22.—Important personal reasons why a selective service registrant should cooperate closely with his local board were stressed by Dr. William Mather Lewis, state director of selective service.

Dr. Lewis pointed out that the registrant's full cooperation with his local board not only expedites the operation of the selective service system, but also directly benefits him.

"The importance of the registrant keeping in touch with his local board and immediately notifying it when he changes his address is obvious," he said. "The registrant who fails in this not only violates the law and places himself in need of less jeopardy of fine or imprisonment, or both, but also does himself an injustice and causes the local board much unnecessary trouble."

Dr. Lewis also emphasized the fact that registrants can save both themselves and their local boards much inconvenience and possible grief by exercising care in filling out the questionnaires for classification.

"Every local board has legal advisors to registrants attached to it," he said, "and the registrant who is in doubt as to how to answer any question should consult a legal advisor and follow his instructions."

Any registrant who believes he has been placed in the wrong classification and wants to make an appeal, has at his service the government's appeal agent attached to his local board. This government appeal agent is charged with the duty of protecting the interests of the registrant, as well as those of the government, and the duty to assist in making his appeal.

Well in 1945: "Why didn't we do our utmost instead of stringing it out and making it cost so much?"

Farm Security Loans Available

Farm Tenants Can Purchase Properties At Low Rate Of Interest

Two hundred sixty-six tenant and share renter families in the eleven northeastern states are on their way toward owning their own farms as a result of the past year's tenant purchase program of the Farm Security Administration, Clair E. George, Beaver county supervisor for the Farm Security Administration, said today.

Loans totalling more than $1,500,000 have been approved to make this possible and thus counteract increases in farm tenancy, he added.

One hundred ten tenant purchase loans have been approved in Pennsylvania. Of the loans approved in the state fifty-nine have already been closed. Interest is at three per cent annually over a 40-year period.

Applications were being received at the Farm Security Administration office in Post Office Building in Beaver Falls, Pa., for loans in Lawrence county under the 1941-1942 program.

POPULATION MOVE TOLD BY McKEE

Sixty-Nine Percent Of District Residents Now In Urban Centers

By CAPTAIN WILLIAM McKEE Professor of Economics and Business Administration, Westminister College, and President of the American Economic and Business Foundation.

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 22.—In 1940, 69 per cent of the total population of the Shenango and Mahoning valleys was living in urban centers, while only 61 per cent of the entire population of the United States was living in urban centers, according to the 16th decennial census of the United States.

However, between 1930 and 1940 there was a decrease of 6,076 persons in urban population, while there was an increase of 20,850 in rural population in the valleys.

Trumbull county, O., was the only county in the district having an increase in urban population during the last decade. During this same 10-year period there was an increase in both urban and rural population for the nation as a whole.

The number of persons building outside city limits in the Shenango and Mahoning valleys, plus the fact that the cities in the valleys have not extended their corporate limits to include these new homes, no doubt explains the shift of many persons from urban to rural status.

There was even a lower percentage of persons in the Shenango and Mahoning valleys living in cities and towns in 1940 than there was in 1920. The exact percentage of urban population to the total population in the valleys in 1920 was 69.18 per cent, but it had decreased slightly by 1940, to 68.54 per cent. While the percentage of urban population to total population for the United States as a whole was 51.37 per cent in 1920, it had increased by 1940 to 56.52 per cent.
